WHAT IS THE CCDDA?

The Canadian Conference on Developmental Disabilities and Autism is the largest annual Canadian Conference that focuses on issues related to people diagnosed with an intellectual or developmental disability and autism. This conference is a premiere learning opportunity for professionals that directly support, teach, or provide health and clinical services to people and their families.

WHY SUPPORT THE CCDDA?

- This is your opportunity to reach a large audience connected to disability issues in North America.
- Connect and share your expertise about your company's products and services with administrators, professionals and educators.
- With an attendance of over 500 delegates, this is the perfect opportunity to meet and interact with new people and increase your brand recognition.

2017 CONFERENCE LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

- Promoting inclusion and full citizenship: This conference provides a forum for leaders and supporters to come together and explore successes, challenges, and reflections on promoting full inclusion for people with developmental disabilities. Encouraging and advocating for all people to claim their right to full citizenship must remain a priority.
- High quality health and clinical support: Improving the supports and services for people to manage and advocate for high quality health and wellness is a central theme at this conference. Sessions will be geared towards providing appropriate and collaborative supports to people and their families.
- Leadership excellence: Opportunity to develop skills at all levels in an organization. The sessions will provide participants with specific tools to manage common leadership challenges, consider the impact of personal leadership styles, and approach situations in a strategic and collaborative manner.
