WHAT IS THE CCDDA?

The Canadian Conference on Developmental Disabilities and Autism is the largest annual Canadian conference that focuses on issues related to people diagnosed with an intellectual or developmental disability and autism. This conference is a premiere learning opportunity for professionals that directly support, teach, or provide health and clinical services to people and their families.

The CCDDA promotes social change and action to improve the lives of those we serve by creating learning and networking opportunities for anyone who supports people living with disabilities in a variety of settings.

WHY SUPPORT THE CCDDA?

This is your opportunity to reach a large audience connected to disability issues in North America. Connect and share your expertise about your company's products and services with administrators, professionals and educators.

With an attendance of over 700 delegates, this is the perfect opportunity to meet and interact with new people and increase your brand recognition. You can also promote your business or organization as one who supports the rights of people of all abilities.
